CHILDREN'S SERVICES COUNCIL OF Palm Beach County

Children's Services Council Fast Facts

ORIGIN

In the 1980s, services for Palm Beach County's children were scattered, did not focus on prevention and did not demonstrate accountability or effectiveness. Through the efforts of forward-thinking state and local lawmakers and engaged residents, the state legislature approved a special act allowing counties the option to levy a property tax in order to provide a comprehensive prevention and early intervention system of care for all children. Palm Beach County voters overwhelmingly approved this option and launched the Children's Services Council in 1986.

Our mission is to support families and improve results for young children in communities across the country with a focus on accelerating the development of effective, integrated, local early childhood systems.

MEASURES OF PROGRESS

APPROACH

The Children's Services Council uses four key indicators in its evaluations: 1) percent of babies born low birth weight; 2) percent of preterm births; 3) percent of verified abuse and neglect for children ages birth to five; and 4) percent of children ready for kindergarten. Each indicator is addressed from four guiding questions:

- How are we doing compared to previous years?
- How are we doing compared to our expectations?
- How are we doing compared to others?
- What is our Return on Investment (ROI)?

INDICATORS

- In 2014, birth outcomes for babies born to families receiving services from CSC-funded programs were better than a comparison group:
 - 7.2 percent of babies from families receiving CSC-funded services were born low birthweight, compared to 8.7 percent of a match group.
 - 12.6 percent of babies from families receiving CSC-funded services were born preterm, compared to 14.1 percent of a match group
- In Palm Beach County, 70.5 percent of children were deemed ready for kindergarten. For children who received services from CSC-funded programs, 73.3 percent were deemed ready. For children in a comparison group, 57.1 percent were deemed ready.

STRUCTURE & LEADERSHIP

Governance of Children's Services Council of Palm Beach County consists of a 10-member board. Five are gubernatorial appointees, and they serve staggered four-year terms. Five others serve by virtue of their positions in other bodies, and they are: Palm Beach County School Superintendent, Southeast Florida Regional Director of the Department of Children and Families, a school board member selected annually by the school board, a county commissioner selected annually by the county commission and a juvenile court judge selected annually by the Chief Judge for Palm Beach County Circuit Court.

PARENT INVOLVEMENT

Community members and parents are involved through focus groups, community needs assessment, and as members of the Early Childhood Cabinet. Additionally, through the BRIDGES, a Community Consortium comprised of neighborhood residents directs activities aimed at capacity building and improving the neighborhood's birth, safety and school-readiness outcomes.

FINANCING

The Council is empowered to set a tax rate applicable to all county residential and business property. It has lowered the tax rate for the past five years. In the current year, this tax generates about 83 percent of the Council's $124.5 million budget. Another five percent is grants. About 12 percent is brought forward from a robust reserve fund, built up over 27 years to allow for innovation, new programs and system refinement. Nearly 89 percent of the total budget goes to direct services for children and families and supports for programs.
